

Emma Hendrix (they/them) is an artist, designer and cultural worker focused on experimental form within sound and technology. Their formal training in electroacoustics and 25 years working in experimental art forms have deeply informed their practice and developed their keen interest in the visceral and emotional, bringing an insightful, intuitive element to their sound and design work. Emma creates work independently and as part of Manufacturing Entertainment with Julie Gendron. Emma's latest digital release, All Pressed Gardens, can be found at emmahendrix.com and their latest installations and curatorial work can be discovered at manufacturingentertainment.com.